Little Surprise And Scant Regret In London

(Reuter's Service)
London, August 5.—Reuter's Agency learns that the Russian delegation contended that Art. 14 would leave the war open for demanding complete recognition by the Soviet of their liability to compensate for nationalized property as a matter of right. The delegates declared that the Soviet had rejected the principle involved as far back as the Genoa Conference but they had now made certain concessions, although their attitude was generally unaltered. The breakdown means that the other miscellaneous questions discussed will also remain unsettled.

(Reuter's Service)
London, August 5.—Notwithstanding the gloomy communique issued by the Foreign Office relative to the breakdown of the Anglo-Soviet conference, it is noteworthy that some of the Russians have as yet arranged to leave. Observers in London state that it is probable the breakdown is in no way so definite and complete as at first thought.

(French Wireless through Reuter)
London, Aug. 5.—Pourparlers between Great Britain and the Soviet have been broken off, and the agreement which was contemplated yesterday has been declared impossible by the Russian delegates.

(Reuter's Service)
London, Aug. 5.—The news of the break-up of the Anglo-Russian Conference has not caused surprise and does not evoke much regret. It was even received with gratification in some quarters.

Council Considers Report Of Education Commission

The report of the General Education Commission of 1922 was taken up by the special committee appointed for the purpose by the Shanghai Municipal Council at a meeting held on Thursday, July 17, the report of which appears in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

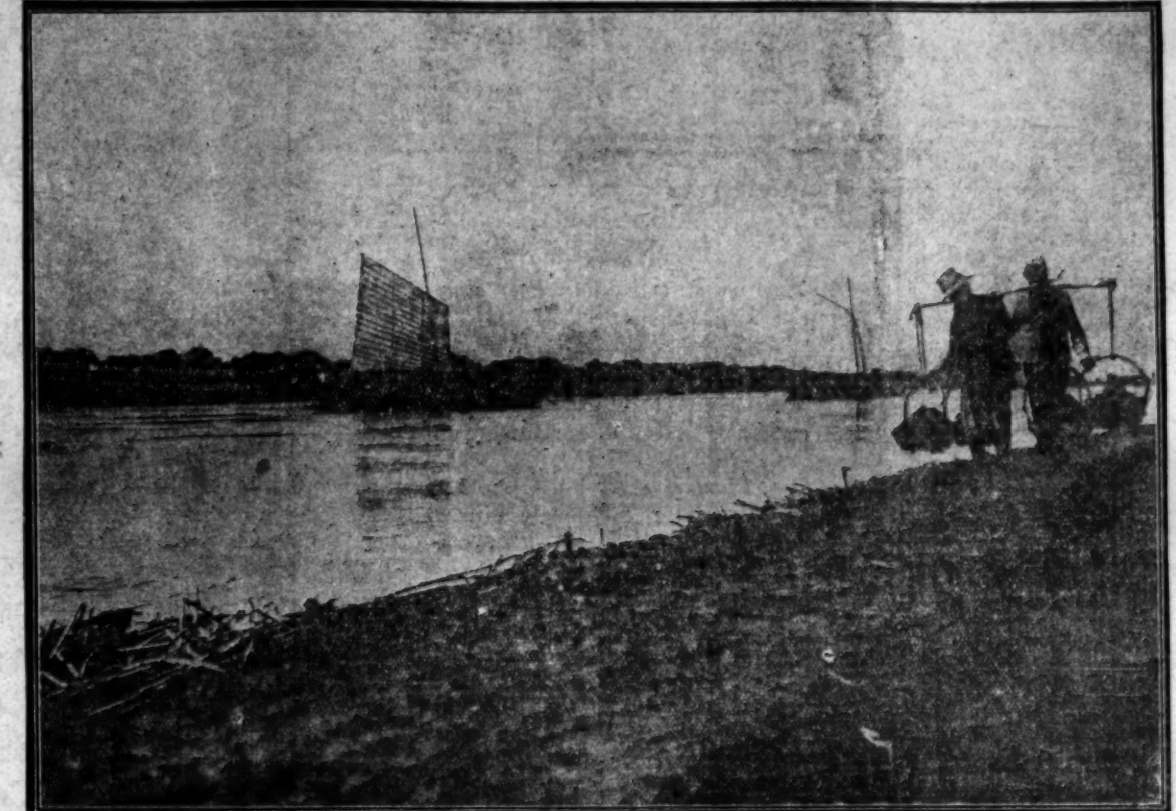

Present at the meeting were Messrs. A. E. Baker, V. G. Lyman and P. W. Massey. Mr. Lyman was elected to take the chair, and consideration of the report was then followed.

In general, the committee found itself in concurrence with views expressed in the commission's report. In the matter of the number of schools and their location, however, discussion made it apparent that members of the committee are adverse to the Commission's major recommendations. The proposal for the erection of a new school for boys in the Western District was approved in principle, but as an extension to the existing Public School for Boys has already been approved, the need for a new school for boys in the Western District was not regarded as a matter of urgency. The Commission's recommendation that the existing school for girls in Boone Road be continued to provide elementary education in that district was endorsed.

The Commission's recommendations for certain changes in the names of schools was not regarded as urgent, particularly in view of the terms of the trust deeds under which the names of the Thomas Hanbury Schools and Polytechnic Schools must remain unchanged.

Support was given the Commission's recommendation that in the girls' schools more emphasis should be placed on domestic science, and endorsement was likewise given to the suggestion that the program of manual training for boys be developed.

Over $10,000 Claimed In British Supreme Court From Mr. Humphries; Case Is Continued

In the British Supreme Court here yesterday, before Judge Sir Skinner Turner and a jury, was opened the case of Mr. Stefan Uznanski, a Polish citizen, against Mr. J. W. Humphries. The plaintiff is suing Mr. Humphries for damages said to have been incurred through being struck by the defendant's car in the Race Course last October, the amount claimed totalling £15,100 as medical fees, etc., and $9,000 for loss of earnings and earning power through being physically incapacitated.

The jury consists of Messrs. A. Parkhill, R. Middleton, F. Large, R. A. E. Patterson, and K. C. Newton. The plaintiff is represented by Mr. Mansel Reece, of Messrs. Platt and Co., and the defendant by Mr. McDonald, of Messrs. Teesdale, Newman and McDonald.

Counsel for the plaintiff, opening his case, pointed out that here yesterday, before Judge Sir Skinner Turner and a jury, was opened the case of Mr. Stefan Uznanski, a Polish citizen, against Mr. J. W. Humphries. The plaintiff is suing Mr. Humphries for damages said to have been incurred through being struck by the defendant's car in the Race Course last October, the amount claimed totalling £15,100 as medical fees, etc., and $9,000 for loss of earnings and earning power through being physically incapacitated.

URGE COUNCIL TO PROCEED IN TRAFFIC STUDY

Joint Committee Recommends Appointment Of Commission

Appointment of a traffic commission is recommended to the council in the report of a joint meeting of the watch and works committees which appears in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

The joint committee meeting was held in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Council on July 2. Present were Messrs. P. L. Knight, W. P. Lambe, V. G. Lyman, E. F. Mackay, P. W. Massey and G. N. Wilson. Mr. Lambe was elected chairman.

After discussion it was decided to recommend appointment of a traffic commission. While no recommendation as to the constitution of the commission was made, it was suggested that a number of councillors be invited to serve, and further, that one or two prominent Chinese might be asked to assist.

Regarding the terms of reference to the commission, it was considered that these should be as wide as possible, it being felt that if aspects of the problem beyond the Council's scope are dealt with, the result of such deliberation would assist in any policy finally decided upon.

POSTPONEMENT IS AGREED TO BY FREE STATE

By J. H. Thomas At Dublin

(Reuter's Service)
London, Aug. 6.—At a late hour the Dublin correspondent of the Times telegraphed that as the result of great pressure by Mr. J. H. Thomas the Free State Government had agreed to a postponement of the second reading in the Imperial Parliament of the Amending Bill as regards the constitution of the Boundary Commission until after the recess.

(Reuter's Service)
Dublin, August 5.—The Conference has concluded and the Colonial Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, and the Home Secretary, Mr. Arthur Henderson, will leave for London by the night mail. A communique, says that the question of putting into operation Clause XII was fully discussed, and a statement will be made in the House of Commons tomorrow.

ITALIAN UNIT OF S.V.C. WILL BE DISBANDED

Number Of Departures Makes Continuance Now Impossible

Temporary disbandment of the Italian Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps is announced in correspondence between Chev. G. De Roset, Consul-General for Italy, and the chairman of the Municipal Council which appears in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

The move, Chev. de Roset writes, has been necessitated by reason of the departure from Shanghai of many members of the Italian community in recent months, making it difficult to secure a sufficient number of able men to insure the regular functioning of the Italian Volunteer company. He expresses the hope that with changing circumstances it will be possible soon to reorganise the Italian unit on such a basis as to insure its efficiency.

In reply, the Council states that while it shares to the fullest the regret expressed by Chev. de Roset at the proposed disbandment it feels that there is no other alternative under the existing circumstances than reluctantly to acquiesce in the decision. Gratitude is expressed for the valuable services rendered the community by the Italian Company.

Report Shows Theft Was Not Motive For Crime

(Reuter's Service)
London, August 5.—In the House of Commons today, questioned again relative to the murder of Mrs. Evans, Mr. MacDonald said that an officer of the British Legion who had been sent to the ranch to investigate had reported that the motive had not been robbery and that the Mexican Government were acting energetically and had made a number of arrests. Mr. MacDonald had informed the British Ambassador in Washington that the Mexican Government should be made to realise their responsibility for this tragic occurrence. A claim would certainly be made for suitable compensation.

MacDonald Replies To Questions Put By Lloyd George

(Reuter's Service)
London, August 5.—The second stage of the Inter-Allied Conference opened at Downing Street at noon today.

The Allied delegates were joined by half-a-dozen German representatives, whose arrival was watched by large crowds. The conference lasted three-quarters of an hour and was purely formal, Mr. MacDonald, welcoming the Germans, hoped that it would be possible to hold the final conference on Friday.

Mr. MacDonald emphasized that the only business of the conference was to deal with the Dawes report and hoped that, by a spirit of co-operation, a successful conclusion would be reached very soon.

Herr Marx, speaking in German, said that upon the success of the conference depended the fate of Germany and Europe. Goodwill and thorough sincerity were necessary for success. The German delegation proposed to negotiate in that spirit.

Herr Marx confirmed that the German Government regarded the Dawes report as a suitable basis for the solution of the reparations question and said that they were prepared to proceed with draft bills to carry out the report. If the conference succeeded, the German people would devote their whole strength to carrying out the obligations involved in this report.

California Organisations Oppose Recent Oriental Exclusion Legislation

Public organisations in California are vigorously opposing the new Oriental Exclusion Legislation passed by Congress, according to a letter received here yesterday by the National Christian Council, 2 Quinsan Gardens, from the California States Church Federation. The text of the letter follows:

"At the annual meeting of the California States Church Federation held in Los Angeles June 19-20, the following resolution was passed:

"In view of the fact that the recent Oriental Exclusion legislation passed by Congress was not in harmony with the best American traditions of courtesy, in treatment of friendly powers; and

"In view of the fact that this legislation has apparently destroyed much of the goodwill established through past political, missionary and commercial relations;

"Resolved that the State Church Federation express its deep regret over the action of Congress in including the Exclusion Clause in the Johnson Immigration Bill. That the Federation express its regret in communication to the National Christian Councils of Japan and China and that the Federation record its intention of doing its utmost to right the wrong that has been done.

"In addition to this action, during the last months there have been strong resolutions passed by the following organisations: Los Angeles Ministerial Association, Summer School of Missions (with 246 delegates registered), Southern California Congregational Conference, State Federation of Women's Clubs, Pacific Conference on International Goodwill, and many others. Nearly all the university presidents and many of the faculty members have indicated their opposition to the action taken by Congress. One telegram included the names of sixty leading people of California, including besides church people and university presidents and faculty men, business men, club women, members of Chambers of Commerce, and other groups.

"Forty members of Pomona College faculty signed a telegram of protest.

"The Pacific Conference on International Goodwill was composed of representatives from the following groups: Churches (Protestant, Catholic and Jewish), Universities, Colleges, Public Schools, Service Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Federation of Women's Clubs, W.C.T.U., Y.M.C.A., Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and other civic organisations of southern California. This Conference went far beyond the expectation of the leaders on the Japanese Exclusion measure. In fact, wherever an effort has been made to secure action by any group, we have been amazed at the willingness and readiness of the group to oppose this exclusion measure. We are discovering that the anti-Japanese feeling in California is far weaker than we had thought, that it has been stirred up by a very small group of individuals and that concerted effort on the part of the Christian forces and others will be able to supplant this feeling with a more friendly attitude toward Japanese and all Orientals. What is needed is a movement to disseminate the facts and disprove the propaganda that has been circulated so widely.

"The Pacific Conference on International Goodwill appointed a committee to call a Conference of Pacific Coast experts to determine what the next step should be. Several possibilities have been suggested: A new treaty, as President Coolidge proposed; putting Japan on the quota basis, as Secretary Hughes desired; revising the Gentlemen's Agreement, as Ambassador Hanihara suggested; and the revision of our naturalisation laws so as to include those now ineligible to citizenship. There is no general agreement as yet as to which of these steps is most desirable.

"This same Pacific Conference also appointed a committee to carry on an educational campaign to get the facts regarding the present exclusion matter before the people of California. This statement is now in the course of preparation.

"There is now in process a survey of race relations on the Pacific Coast that will do a great deal to correct many mis-statements regarding the Oriental population. This includes a study of the Chinese, Japanese and Filipinos living in Canada as well as in the Pacific Coast states of the United States. Dr. Robert E. Parks, of the University of Chicago, is the leading investigator and he has the cooperation of many of the universities and colleges in the Pacific Coast states.

Sino-Soviet Pact And 1901 Protocol

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 5.—In view of the surprise generally felt when Mr. Karakhan put forward to the Protocol Ministers the view that Soviet Russia is a Protocol Power and that, therefore, assurances that the Soviet Embassy would abide by the regulations of the Diplomatic Quarter should not be required from him, the text of the article in the Sino-Russian Agreement dealing with the cancellation of Tsarist treaties may be worth quoting. It says: "The Governments of the contracting parties agree to annual at the conference as provided in the preceding article all conventions, treaties, agreements, protocols, contracts, etcetera, concluded between the Government of China and the Tsarist Government and to replace them," etc. This seems to make it quite plain that cancellation of the Tsarist treaties, etcetera, is to take place at the forthcoming Sino-Russian conference. But the question arises whether or not Russian extraterritoriality has also been resumed by the Soviet Government, as well as other Russian rights not specifically dealt with by the declarations accompanying the Sino-Russian Agreement.

As regards the Protocol of 1901, however, it would be interesting to know what the views of the Chinese Government are in this respect, particularly as the Protocol Ministers are accredited to China and China is a party to the Sino-Russian Agreement.

Housing Bill Passed By Lords

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 5.—In the House of Lords today the third reading of the Housing Bill was passed with some minor amendments.

"The Pacific Conference on International Goodwill appointed a committee to call a Conference of Pacific Coast experts to determine what the next step should be. Several possibilities have been suggested: A new treaty, as President Coolidge proposed; putting Japan on the quota basis, as Secretary Hughes desired; revising the Gentlemen's Agreement, as Ambassador Hanihara suggested; and the revision of our naturalisation laws so as to include those now ineligible to citizenship. There is no general agreement as yet as to which of these steps is most desirable.

Peking To Report To Parliament On German Agreement

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 5.—It is reported that the Chinese Government is now ready to furnish a full report to Parliament regarding disbursement of funds received or to be received through the Sino-German Agreement. It is expected, however, that the Opposition will take advantage of the opportunity to attack the Government on the ground that the agreement was signed without Parliament's approval.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 5.—According to a Chinese News Agency Mr. Wei Chendau, Chinese Minister in Berlin, who has recently been in Peking on leave, will return to Germany shortly. While in Peking Mr. Wei was able to assist in the Sino-German negotiations.

Japanese Destroyer Grounded In Storm

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 5.—A message from Kure says that the destroyer, No. 4, grounded at the entrance of Ippu Harbor early this morning while taking refuge from a storm. The destroyer, which belongs to the 12th Destroyer Division, was engaged with three others in night manoeuvres when the storm drove her in towards Boppo. She struck rocks at the entrance and was holed in the hull. Salvage boats have been despatched to the scene. No further details are known.

Holland Opposes Might For League

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, August 5.—The Foreign Minister, in his reply to the League of Nations declining to support the proposed mutual guarantee pact, says that the Government will aim to strengthen the legal guarantees of the League of Nations, but it does not feel justified in supporting the present proposal to create an organization based on power instead of on right, and likely to lead to international complications instead of strengthening the League of Nations and co-operation.

The message from Mr. Chalaire states that the party were forced to transfer at Taku from the Steamer King Sing, on which it had originally embarked for Shanghai, to the Steamer Shuntien, after the King Sing had had its rudder demolished Tuesday. The Shuntien, according to Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, is due to reach Shanghai at noon tomorrow and will dock at the Butterfield and Swire wharfs on the French Bund.

Accompanying Judge Purdy are Mr. H. D. Rodger, Acting U. S. District Attorney, Mr. R. T. Peyton-Griffin, deputy clerk of the court, and Mr. Chalaire. No announcement has as yet been made as to when the American Court will be reconvened here. Judge Purdy has now before him for decision several cases which he heard prior to his departure for the north, and it is possible that he will write and hand down his decisions in these cases before hearing any new matters to be brought before the court.

German Support Is Pledged To Dawes Formula

whether the report was true that France would remain in the Ruhr for two years. He declared that it was important to know not only whether we were going to evacuate Cologne, but whether another Power was going to send troops there, and thus make matters much worse. Mr. Lloyd George further asked whether France still claimed the right to take separate action.

Mr. MacDonald, in reply, declared that he would consult Parliament in the event of any serious question arising subsequent to the sittings of the Conference, but he did not anticipate that any serious question would arise and also that any agreement reached would be acceptable to Parliament. Consequently, the Premier said, the House might go on its holidays, and leave the Conference to do its work.

Mr. MacDonald, in conclusion, argued that the safeguards were so complete that if the stage of sanctions were reached there would probably be unanimity upon them. As regards the military evacuation of the Ruhr, he did not believe that French public opinion would be blind to the obligations placed upon it by the declarations of its own Government, and declared that up British soldier would remain in Cologne a minute longer than was necessary to carry out the obligations imposed upon us by the Peace Treaty.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

London, Aug. 5.—The plenary session of the Inter-Allied Conference commenced today at noon. Mr. MacDonald handed the German delegates the reports of the three committees, which, he said, marked a definite agreement between the Allied Powers. The German plenipotentiaries were Chancellor Marx, the Minister of Foreign Affairs Dr. Stresemann, and the Minister of Finance Herr Luther.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 6.—A very good impression was created by the German Delegation at their first meeting with the plenary Conference. The speech of Herr Marx is regarded as tactful and conciliatory.

LONDON TIMES FORESEES NEW WAR IN CHINA

Mis-Step By Tsao Kun Will Bring Action By Chang, Claim

(Eastern News Agency) Tokyo, August 6.—A London despatch dated August 4 reports as follows:

The Times Peking correspondent, with reference to the present state of affairs in China, publishes a lengthy article in the Times in which he points out the existing spheres of influence of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, Marshal Wu Pei-fu, and Dr. Sun Yat-sen and predicts that in the event of a serious blunder on the part of President Tsao Kun there will arise a split in the Chihli faction as well as a civil war of large dimensions.

Taking this opportunity, says the correspondent, Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian war-lord, will see his way to invade Peking with the consequence that Marshal Wu Pei-fu will be forced to fight a decisive battle with the Manchurian leader. In view of the fact, further states the correspondent, that the Peking Government is hard pressed for money and that it has formed no concrete relief-measures for the readjustment of its financial affairs, it is more than probable that some day, the Powers concerned will be compelled to interfere with the domestic affairs of China.

The correspondent goes on to state that the Government railways in China are in reality earning considerable profits but that the Chinese militarists are constantly embezzling the revenues with the consequence that the Peking Government is finding it very difficult even to raise money enough to pay principals and interests on foreign loans.

(Reuter's American Service) New York, August 6.—Details of Squadron-Leader MacLaren's accident which compelled him to abandon his world flight are contained in a wireless message from the traveler, Thelwell, on which Squadron-Leader MacLaren and his companions are on their way to America.

Squadron-Leader MacLaren after leaving Heston airport encountered a very dense fog en route to Bolshing Island. He was forced to fly low over the water in order to see his way. The plane was traveling at 100 miles an hour and 100 feet above the ocean and their visibility was only 100 yards.

The pilot was blinded by the fog. Nevertheless, he managed to serve in order to avoid by two feet an island which suddenly loomed up and disappeared in a few seconds. After that the fog was solid and his visibility was nil. There was danger of crashing into the cliffs of Behring Island. Therefore, they decided on a forced landing. The machine hit the ocean along a swell. The top wings were shattered and wrenched off, the fabric of the lower part of the wings was torn off and other serious damage was sustained.

Soviet Parley With Japanese Starts Again

(Eastern News Agency) Peking, Aug. 6.—As previously reported, Mr. Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister to Peking, following his return here from Japan, resumed negotiations with M. Karakhan, the Soviet Envoy in the Far East.

At the opening of the negotiations, Mr. Yoshizawa presented to the Soviet Envoy all the items of the Tokyo government's proposition for the settlement of issues pending between Japan and Soviet Russia and expressed Japan's sincerity by proposing that every item which he presented be discussed between the delegates of the two countries.

In response M. Karakhan appreciated the sincerity of the Japanese government for the success of the Russo-Japanese negotiations and praised the gentlemanlike attitude of Japan but seemed to be rather dissatisfied with Japan's demand for her special rights regarding oil-fields, forests, and coal-mines for, he asserts, notwithstanding the modification in substance of Japan's claims, the fundamental insistence of the Japanese government upon its demand for rights in North Saghalien remains just the same.

M. Karakhan states that while he appreciates Mr. Yoshizawa's endeavor during his visit to Tokio, he finds that what Japan considers is her mitigated demand is on the contrary embarrassing Soviet Russia, inasmuch as, he declares, Soviet Russia is in no position to accord the monopolisation of special rights to any power. At yesterday's meeting, no reference was made to the question of rights in North Saghalien for the purpose of making a progress in the negotiations, but views were exchanged on questions concerning the restoration of diplomatic relations between the two countries, the revision of treaties of commerce and fisheries, the transfer of the Russian embassy and consulates in Japan and the Russian rights of dwelling and business in Japan.

Guarding the Purity of Carnation Milk

Each year, thousands of housewives visit the big Carnation Milk condenseries. Without exception, they are delighted with the spotless surroundings and enthusiastic over the precautions taken to guard the purity of Carnation Milk.

Glass-lined receivers for fresh milk are thoroughly cleaned and scientifically sterilized twice daily. Great vacuum pans in which the milk is evaporated are polished, inside and out until they shine with perfect cleanliness. Even the farmer must submit his milk receptacles for cleansing and sterilizing under Carnation direction.

So great is the purity and richness of Carnation Milk, that leading physicians recommend it without hesitation as a food for infants. You, too, can be sure of a safe, sanitary supply of milk by ordering Carnation.

Keio Team Arrives Today For Big Baseball Series

Shanghai baseball fans will soon have the pleasure of seeing the smallest and youngest but one of the best baseball teams ever produced by the Japanese in action. This exciting aggregation happens to be those diminutive but stellar ball players who hail from the Keio University and have come at the invitation of the Shanghai Baseball Club to trounce the local aggregation on the best they can. The Keio is expected to arrive at noon or nine thirty o'clock this morning aboard the N.Y.K. s.s. Hakusan Maru from Moji.

This team is composed of the youngest and smallest men that Keio University has ever put out but in spite of their size is the best college has had in years.

It will be remembered what a good brand of baseball the big Dai Mai team displayed here last summer and how they trounced the Gallopers, but it happens when the Dai Mai team invaded Tokyo this year in April they conquered every team except this little Keio aggregation, who were the only ones who made the Dai Mai boys bow to them. Their team this year is composed of many young stars from the middle schools who have entered this great university and succeeded in becoming members of the varsity in their first year at college which is a rare thing.

Kirihara the little shortstop who only measures about five feet in height is reputed to be Japan's best shortstop and despite his size covers a great amount of territory in the infield. Another star on the team is the lefty Yamaoka, their best pitcher, who is well known in Japan for his pitching record. This young southpaw hurled the Kobe Commercial School to victory in the baseball league which is organized each year by the Osaka Mainichi. This league is composed of all the school teams and last year Yamaoka brought home the pennant for his school which he left that year. He is now in Keio continuing his education.

Also on the team there is Okada, a catcher who stands like a brick wall behind the bat and has a peg to second base that can only be equalled by the swiftness and sureness of a shot. Yamaoka in center field is just another Maeda or maybe better and the exhibition pitcher for the Manchurian team, put on in Shanghai when his team paid their disastrous visit here was nothing short of marvellous.

So with this bunch of young like college boys arriving in port with the one intention of trouncing the local nine the only advice for the Gallopers is to get busy and play baseball and forget that all they have to do is to trounce around the field although they are Gallopers. The local boys have been working hard this week in preparation for the coming series and should cop the series if they play the game right.

The players on the Japanese team are as follows:

Astor House Holds Big Carnival Night With Double Band

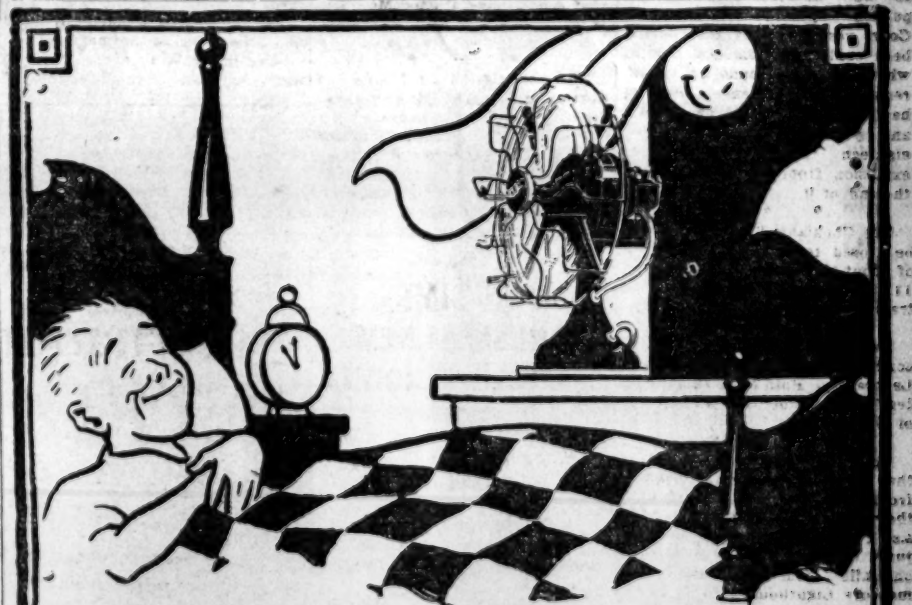

A crowd of diners and dancers which taxed the capacity of the spacious new ball room at the Astor House assembled last night to take advantage of the carnival program staged as a farewell to the old orchestra, which is leaving tomorrow for a two months' engagement in Hongkong, and a welcome to the new Astor House jazz organisation, most of whose members have but recently arrived from America.

The occasion had all of the atmosphere of a real carnival. Special decorations and lighting had been worked out by the Astor House management, and the combined aggregation of fifteen musicians, all entertainers, did the rest.

"Bill" Chambers, favorite of Shanghai dance-goers for several seasons past and leader of the Little Yon."

new orchestra which is starting engagement at the Astor, took headline honors with his rendition of "So This is Venice", an English comedy act, but he had a close second in Jess Sommers, who will tout the saxophone and clarinet in the new aggregation when Jess demonstrated himself to be even more popular as a dancer than as a musician. Another feature of the evening was a specialty of the evening named "Frico" dance. Other members of the newly arrived Astor House band, most of whom put on their specialties last night, are George Morice, trumpeter, Jeff Anderson, saxophonist, Ray Beamis, violinist, and saxophonist, Dan Kolitz, pianist, and B. Bokoff, bass horn.

Decision On Age Of Girls In Sing-Song Houses Handed Down

A decision of some interest with regard to sing-song houses and the age of girl visitors was made in the Mixed Court yesterday by Assessor Martin, who stated that he believed the police should prosecute in all cases where the girls were under fifteen years, foreign reckoning.

The decision came as the result of a prosecution the first of the kind. It was stated—of a keeper of a sing-song house on Swatow Road on account of permitting a 15-year-old girl to visit the place, in violation of the proprietor's license terms. The girl had come in with an older girl, in spite of the keeper of the place having given warning that young girls should not be brought in.

Inspector Moore asked for the Court to make an order on the subject as this was the first case in connection with sing-song houses with regard to the age of girls. The minimum age in brothels was 15 years.

The Court, in sentencing the keeper of the house to pay a $10 fine for breach of her license in admitting the young girl, stated that they believed the police should prosecute whenever a girl was under fifteen, European reckoning. This means about sixteen or seventeen, Chinese reckoning.

Report Is Issued On Reforms And Progress In Chosen For Year

We have for acknowledgment the annual report on reforms and progress in Chosen (1921-1922), compiled by the Government-General of Chosen, at Keijo. The book, nicely bound and profusely illustrated with photographs and maps, is a comprehensive survey of the history of Chosen. Chapters, fully complete, on the history of the administration in Chosen, Government organization, finance, economic conditions, education, shrines and religion, charity and relief works, industry, civil engineering, communications, police system, sanitation, judicial system, local administration, investigation of historic remains, an appendix and statistics give one an idea of the scope of the survey.

The Government-General, judging from the facts and figures presented in this book, as it explains in the preface to the volume, "earnestly endeavoring to carry out the grand aim of the annexation by furthering the culture and developing the resources of the Korean people, and, by working for reconciliation between the Japanese and Korean peoples, is contributing to the peace of the Far East and the world in general."

Blood Poisoning Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HARRISON, of 8, Railway Road, Ferry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes: "About two years ago I got with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with large boils. Again I went to the hospital, and was treated for blood poisoning. This happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be doing out the poison, as I recovered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Rheumatism, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Scalds, Cuts, Burns, and all the various skin diseases.

RUBBER PRODUCTS THAT ARE UNIFORMLY GOOD

A little over 15 years ago the United States Rubber Company started their own rubber plantations in Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula. They did this that they might always be certain of securing crude rubber unvarying in quality.

Today the United States Rubber Company owns 172 square miles of rubber plantations and 5,000,000 carefully selected rubber trees under the constant care and supervision of a corps of tree experts.

Recently this company announced two revolutionary advances in the art of rubber manufacture: The New Sprayed Rubber and The New Web Cord.

The first of these ensures your getting rubber articles made from the purest virgin rubber ever produced. A rubber with all its natural properties unimpaired by the addition of smoke residues and chemicals. The second advance means a cord tire of a quality even more consistent than ever before.

United States Rubber products always have been leaders in the rubber industry. Now—due to these two startling discoveries, you can be assured of rubber products that are more than ever uniformly good.

Pole Brings Suit For Injuries From Auto Accident At Race Course

One thing he did appear to be suffering from, however, and this was chronic underfeeding-semistarvation with poor health as a result.

He had also brought in his children, who were suffering from dysentery. While under treatment for the injury to his hip the man had eaten well and gained weight, leaving the hospital apparently in better physical condition than before the injury, except for a slight limp.

EYE-WITNESS CALLED

Mr. E. Stebelsky, a friend of the plaintiff, who was with him at the time of the accident, was put on the witness stand, and in general corroborated the plaintiff's story. He himself had been knocked down by the automobile, but not much hurt, and when he got up he saw his friend lying under the automobile unconscious and lifted him onto the bench. As Mr. Uznansky regained consciousness he began to cry out, "Oh my head, my head," and begged to be taken home. Mr. Humphries, the defendant, very pale and trembling, approached with a glass of strong liquor of some kind, which the injured man drank. A policeman and some other persons nearby, approaching, told Mr. Uznansky he could not go home, but should go to the hospital, and he was taken there. His apparent impression upon regaining consciousness was that he was dying, and he wished to see his wife and children.

LOSS OF EARNING CAPACITY

On cross-examination by the attorney for the defense as to the plaintiff's earning capacity, Mr. Uznansky stated that upon first coming to Shanghai, a few months before the accident, he had taken a temporary position as a watchman at $25 monthly and living quarters. After this he took up the repair of typewriters and sewing machines, and earned about $250 monthly for about two months preceding his injury. His work was very tiring to the eyes, and frequently involved heavy lifting as well.

Going into the details of the injury, Mr. McDonald put it to the plaintiff that he had not been seriously injured at all. "Well," countered the latter, "if Mr. McDonald will sit on a bench and let me bump him with a car I will let him judge for himself."

Counsel for the defense further suggested that the plaintiff upon leaving the hospital was in better physical condition than he had been for months previous to the accident, and referred to several letters he had made to the General Hospital for treatment, indicating that he was very desirous of getting into the hospital.

DR. BURTON'S TESTIMONY

Dr. Burton, called to the witness stand testified to having treated the plaintiff at the General Hospital after his accident. He had been there for two weeks, until the pain in his hip had subsided enough to permit him to walk without much difficulty. There were no broken bones, but he could not speak about the plaintiff's nervous system. Such an injury was very capable of causing injury to the nervous system.

The man had come to him a few times before this injury with various complaints, and the doctor had regarded him as a malingerer.

the stand, testified to having first seen the plaintiff at the General Hospital, and asked to take care of his case. As Dr. Burton was already handling it, however, he refused. After Mr. Uznansky left the hospital, however, he had come to Dr. Bary for treatment, suffering from headaches, insomnia, weakness of his left leg, and a twitching of the eyes and facial muscles generally, which the doctor diagnosed as the cataplexy. There was also twitching in the hands, and a marked diminution of sensibility on the whole left side of the body, especially in the left leg. A pin could be run into the plaintiff's left leg without his being aware of it. The man was in general suffering from traumatic neurosis, the doctor had investigated and satisfied himself that these had symptoms had not existed prior to the plaintiff's accident.

In the several months he had been treating the plaintiff he had noted no visible change in his nervous condition, and believed from previous experiences that the illness might last for a few years, in fact to be chronic. He estimated the plaintiff's loss of working power to be about 50 percent, particularly on account of fatigue, headache, etc., the existence of which were not only stated by the plaintiff but were substantiated by the symptoms he had noted himself, symptoms which were objective and verifiable.

The doctor did not consider there was any relation between the general physical health of a person and the possibility of traumatic neurosis. As for auto-suggestion influencing the health of the patient, which was suggested by a member of the jury, the doctor believed this was very possible, and cited the case of men actually suffering from shell shock who had recovered immediately after news of the armistice was received.

Dr. Balabanoff, put on the stand, testified to having treated the plaintiff for nervous shock, headaches, and injury to his hip. Mr. Uznansky had fainting fits, and the doctor had given him several injections. He considered him incapable of work.

MR. HUMPHRIES' EVIDENCE

Mr. Humphries, put on the stand, testified to having been visited by the plaintiff and given a letter by him, written in Polish and English, asking for $250. He did not have the letter to show, however.

With regard to the accident itself, Mr. Humphries said that passing the front of the Cricket Club in his car he turned to the left, towards the Recreation Club, and met an ambulance coming towards him on the right side of the road, i.e., along the fence at about 20 miles per hour. In order to avoid a head on collision with the other car he swerved sharply to the right, onto the grass, accelerating the speed of the car. Upon seeing the bench immediately in front of him he put on his brakes hard, and was going about eight or ten miles an hour when he struck the bench and on.

Mr. Mason, who was in the car with Mr. Humphries at the time, was put on the stand, and corroborated the defendant's testimony.

Recalled to the stand and cross-questioned, the plaintiff stated that he had gone to Mr. Humphries a little while after leaving the hospital and taken him a letter in Polish and English asking for $250. The letter referred to his injury and to his reduction in working power. Mr. Humphries had advised him to visit Mr. C. E. Sparks. The plaintiff denied ever having written a letter to the defendant asking for $250.

At this point the Court decided to adjourn the case for the day. It is to be continued this morning at 10.15.

Double Standard Of Morals In Shanghai In Court Decision

Susceptibility to the wiles of Venus appears to be a criminal offense in a young man in Shanghai, but apparently can pass unnoticed in a young lady, to judge from a decision of the Mixed Court yesterday afternoon.

A young man, a shop assistant 19 years of age, appeared in Court charged with illicit intercourse with a young lady of good family two years his junior, but no similar charge was brought against the girl. The two had stayed at a lodging house on Foochow Road for five days.

The young couple have known each other for three years. He wishes to marry the girl, Yui Sien-moo, but her parents, who are well-to-do, object on account of his poverty. The girl stated in Court yesterday that she went with the youth willingly to the lodging-house and stayed there with him. She had taken $10, she said, when she left home, using it for her own expenses and giving nothing to her lover.

The young man was found guilty and sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Mr. Martin, British Assessor, and Magistrate Zau. The only charge brought against his sweetheart was taking money from her parents when leaving the house. She was found guilty of this, but turned over to them with a caution.

At this point the Court decided to adjourn the case for the day. It is to be continued this morning at 10.15.

MOTOR ROAD TO BE LAID DOWN IN KWANGTUNG

Sunwei District Will Soon
Have Highway Many Miles Long

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Canton, July 31.—The Sunwei District of Kwangtung, of which Kongmoon is an important and open port, will soon have a motor road, many miles long. Half a million dollars is being raised for the enterprise. The contract for building the road will be let in three sections. The first will run from Sunwei City to Pekai by way of Kongmoon; and the second, from Sunwei to Tao Wong Shi, passing through several towns, and the third, from Tao Wong Shi to Sam Chuen. The capital for the road will be raised in small shares of five dollars each, and it is expected that overseas Chinese from Sunwei and inhabitants of towns and villages to be benefited by the road will subscribe. A feature of the financial scheme is that parcels of land needed for the road may be paid for in shares, while shares may also be obtained by supplying labor.

The proposed road will supplement the Sunning Railroad which connects Kongmoon and Toysan City and other towns beyond. In addition to the proposed motor road, the Sunning Railroad Company is taking steps to open Tung Koo for a trade port. The initial capital of $100,000 for his enterprise has been fully subscribed by the company, but another $1,000,000, it is estimated, will be required.

Peking Examines Peru Treaty Draft

(Eastern News Agency)
Peking, Aug. 5.—Negotiations have been in progress for some time past between the Chinese charge d'affaires to Peru and the minister for foreign affairs of that country with a view to the conclusion of a new treaty. No General Buying On New York Cotton Market

(Reader's American Service)
New York, July 11.—The trade has divided its attention the past week between the reports of the progress of the crop, and the evening-up of the July position. The latter still holds elements that threaten the peace of mind of the remaining shorts, although it is generally recognised that the liquidation of the current month is purely a temporary matter, with little bearing on ultimate prices.

The selling movement inspired by the end-June crop figures continued until October had declined about two cents a pound from the high levels of last month, but at this figure the market showed a disposition to steady owing to the uncertainty as to crop progress and indications that both domestic and foreign trade interests had been accumulating early new crop months on a scale down. New selling for short account was checked by the persistent showers over the Atlantic districts, and the cool nights over much of the belt. At the same time, portions of the western belt are beginning to feel the need of rain. The rains in the eastern belt have been ideal for boll weevil propagation, damage from which has thus far been practically negligible.

These influences have failed to promote anything like a general buying, however, and sentiment among the trade as a whole seems to be that the next Bureau report, showing the condition of the crop as of July 16, will indicate a continuation of June improvement. In connection with prospective weevil damage, one authority estimates that poison to combat the pest is being used in a small way only, and that much less than ten percent of the entire acreage of the belt will have poison applications. This suggests that the ravages of the weevil will become serious after the second hatching, which takes place between the middle of July and the first of August, unless the weather turns hot and dry. Calcium arsenate manufacturers complain of difficulty in disposing of their product, and prices are low and weak.

NEW YORK STOCKS

It is anticipated that the New York stock of cotton will be materially reduced before the end of the present month through shipments to both Liverpool and the Continent. Most of the cotton is already marked for shipment. On the other hand, cotton is beginning to arrive from Southern points for July tender; and it is understood that perhaps 10,000 bales of cotton which had been shipped to Bremen earlier in the season on consignment, is unmarketable there and is being returned for tender on July contracts at New York.

Sentiment in textile circles shows some evidence of improvement; although this has not yet found reflection in demand on any extensive scale. Offerings of cloths come chiefly from speculators, who were large buyers a cent a yard higher, and who have been gradually working off these holdings. Curtailment among the mills remains about the same; with the July position a closed number, it is felt that greater activity will develop among buyers and that the mills will shortly be getting more business.

In some quarters it is contended that cotton goods cannot be merchandised profitably on a basis of 30-cent cotton when other textiles, such as silks, and linen, are on a lower basis relatively. Substitutions of other goods for cottons have been more general than has been commonly stated in the market. Consumers have been favoring silks in their purchases, not only because of style, but because they are cheap and do not run up laundry bills as cottons do when used for dress wear.

UNIFORMITY OF TAX

A movement is now underway in the South to bring about uniformity of "tare" in connection with the buying and selling of cotton. The ultimate purpose is to have the bale not only of uniform weight, but of uniform tare, which tare should be recognised all over the world as the proper tare for cotton.

Advices from the South today estimate the probable July ginnings in the Rio Grande Valley at 15,000 bales. There has been a fair inquiry for new crop Texas cotton but with few actual sales. Shippers are stated to be reluctant to make firm offers and are asking for better terms.

The inquiry seems to be for the grades of middling and above, one to 1-1/16 inch staple. Eastern belt co-operative marketing associations have been large sellers of spot cotton to a leading South Carolina spot firm, which firm is considered also to be the biggest holder of July future contracts to the New York market. Aside from this business, spot sales in the daily reporting markets have been unimportant.

Hongkong Shares

Messrs. Moxon & Taylor state in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, August 1:

After quite a heavy settlement which passed off smoothly, our market was again very active during the week under review, prices of most stock being well maintained with buyers predominating. The Shanghai market remains quiet.

The following are the principal alterations since last week:
Hongkong Banks:—Have again risen to a buying rate of $1.290 at which price considerable business has been done.

Unions:—Are still in some demand, shares having changed hands at $224, at which price there are still buyers.

Hongkong Lands:—There are still buyers at $114, with few sellers coming out.

Humphreys:—Are in demand at $22 1/2.

Cements:—Are rather quieter with a nominal quotation of $27 1/4 for Combined shares.

Kowloon Wharves:—Have again advanced and are in strong demand at $208, shares having changed hands at $205 to $209 during the week.

Hongkong Docks:—Are quiet with no particular change to report.

Shanghai Docks:—Have declined to a buying rate of Tls. 91. Ex Div.

Ropes:—Little or no business has been reported and they remain quiet at prices practically unchanged.

Hongkong Trams:—Have undergone a slight decline having changed hands at $41, with buyers now willing to pay $41 1/4.

Peak Trams:—Are still wanted, but there are no sellers at present. China Sugars:—Have again advanced and have been the medium of considerable business at $275 to $276 for cash and $284 for October.

China Providents:—Remain quiet and unchanged.

China Lights:—Are also rather quiet, buyers offering $9 1/2 for New and the Old shares being quoted at $15 1/2 nominal.

Dairy Farms:—Have sellers at $27 1/2.

Lane Crawfords:—Are still in demand at $17 1/2, with no shares offering.

Hongkong Electric:—Continue on the upward grade, having changed hands at $39 1/4, at which price they are still in strong demand.

Steamboats:—Have weakened, shares changing hands at $35 1/2, and buyers now offering $35.

London Quotations of the 31st Ult.—Hongkong Banks $136.10/-, Indos Deferred £14.8 1/2, All middle prices.

Exchange:—The demand selling rate on London is 2/4 1/2 and the T.T. on Shanghai is Tls. 72 1/2.

WHEN RHEUMATISM GRIPS YOU

It is clear proof uric acid is poisoning your blood. How useless then to hope to cure your rheumatic pains by means of embrocations, ointments, rubbing!

The only right way to get rid of rheumatism is through the blood—by sending a fresh, pure, rich stream of that precious life fluid through the veins to dissolve and wash out the deposits of uric acid poison from every part where they are lodged.

What is the best means of doing this? Relief and permanent cure have been brought to tens of thousands of rheumatic sufferers throughout the world by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the reason is because these pills act immediately and powerfully on the blood, purifying, enriching and increasing it, thus carrying renewed health and strength to all parts of the system. At the same time they revitalize the nerves, invigorate the digestion, give a delightful sense of rejuvenation to the whole being. Over and over again in the course of grateful testimony received from sufferers giving thanks for benefits derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the statement appears, "They have made me feel many years younger!"

Why not begin to improve your own health today by means of a short course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people, the world's most famous blood and nerve tonic? Of chemists everywhere, or post free, $1.50 per bottle, $3.00 for 6 bottles, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kingston Road, Shanghai.

The Breakdown Of The Anglo-Russian Negotiations

THE news published yesterday in the form of two dispatches from London dated August 4 and 5 dealing with the Anglo-Russian negotiations were conflicting in that one dispatch, that of August 4, stated that Russia had agreed to pay £28,000,000 of her debts to Great Britain and the other dispatch dated August 5 stated that the negotiations had finally broken down and the treaty would not be signed. We imagine that the negotiations broke down over this point of the Soviet debts to Great Britain, for that issue has constituted the chief subject of the conversations for many weary weeks.

It will be remembered that on the morning when the Soviet delegation arrived in London many weeks ago, the British bankers issued a public memorandum wherein they laid down their terms for granting credit to Russia. A few hours later, when Mr. Ramsay MacDonald opened the Anglo-Russian conference, he delivered an address which practically amounted to an endorsement of the position of the bankers. The British bankers, in their statement of conditions, listed six principles:

1.—That a recognition of debts, public and private, should be agreed upon as acceptable to both countries.

2.—That an equitable arrangement for restitution of private property in Russia to foreigners should be made.

3.—That a proper civil code should be brought into effective operation, independent courts of law created and sanctity of private contract again firmly established.

4.—That the Russian Government should definitely guarantee that in future private property should, in all circumstances, be free from danger of confiscation by the State.

5.—That bankers, industrialists and traders in Great Britain should be able to deal freely, without interference by Government authorities, with similar private institutions in Russia controlled by men of whom they have personal knowledge, and in whose character, word and resources they have confidence.

6.—That the Russian Government should abandon their propaganda against the institutions of other countries, and particularly against those from whom they propose to request financial assistance.

Now if the negotiations have completely broken down, as the press dispatches indicate, it emphasises the point which has been made previously in these columns of The China Press that the mere matter of recognition does not mean anything, if Russia still insists upon her revolutionary ideas pertaining to property rights. And, in passing, it is also timely to remark that there are still many bridges to be crossed in this regard before China and Russia get their relations back on a sound basis, in spite of the propaganda from Peking to the contrary.

It is tremendously unfortunate, of course, that the negotiations have broken down, for it has been hoped, just as much in America as in Britain, that success would result from the conference and that Russia, with her 130,000,000 of people, might be again brought into the family of nations. But, on the other hand, if Moscow still insists upon her rights to repudiate debts negotiated by the previous Government of the Czar and also upon her right to confiscate private property owned by foreigners in Russia, then it is just as well that the conversations stop until the Russian people have another opportunity for serious consideration on the state of their country and the world generally. For several months prior to the death of Lenin, Russia, through the adoption of the so-called "N. E. P." or New Economic Policy, showed promise of returning to sanity on this subject of property rights. Private enterprises were being permitted to grow up alongside the State industries. But Lenin died, and since that time the Left Wing or extreme communists have regained their power and apparently have gone clear back to all of the radical doctrines, and Trotsky is doing the talking.

The greatest need of Russia is money, foreign capital with which to reconstruct the state, rebuild the railroads, replenish the agricultural implements, reopen the mines,—develop the country,—but the radical Communists apparently consider that the economic needs of Russia are of less importance than the political needs of Communism. Although some concessions have been made in the Anglo-Russian Conference on both sides, apparently there is still a vital difference of viewpoint beyond which Britain cannot go and still preserve the elements upon which her civilisation is based. In this connection, we can do no better than quote a letter written by Secretary Hughes, of the U. S. State Department, on this subject, dated July 19, 1923, and addressed to Mr. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor:

"There cannot be intercourse among nations—any more than among individuals—except upon a general assumption of good faith. We would welcome convincing evidence of a desire of the Russian authorities to observe the fundamental conditions of international intercourse and the abandonment by them of the persistent attempts to subvert the institutions of democracy as maintained in this country (America) and others. It may confidently be added that respect by the Moscow regime for the liberties of other peoples will most likely be accompanied by appropriate respect for the essential rights and liberties of the Russian people themselves. The sentiment of our people is not deemed to be favorable to the acceptance into political fellowship of this regime so long as it denies the essential basis of intercourse and cherishes, as an ultimate and definite aim, the destruction of the free institutions which we have laboriously built up, containing, as they do, the necessary assurances of the freedom of labor upon which our prosperity must depend."

Once Again—We Want Good Roads

THE early Romans were the first to realise the importance of good roads. In the days when Appius Claudius became renowned by having one of the first good roads named after him, the importance of quick and easy transportation was realised, and roads were built on such a solid foundation that many of them have remained until the present day.

The same need for good roads that agitated the sages when Julius Caesar set out to hunt Gauls in France exists today. The lack of any extended means for economical transportation becomes more and more striking. With the development of communication facilities, people have become more and more interdependent on one another, and good roads cease to be a luxury and have to be classed as a necessity, if any progress is to be made in the economic betterment of the world.

Anyone connected with the automotive industry—not to mention the public at large—is well acquainted with the recent campaign in favor of good roads all over the world. Good roads have formed the basis of everything from automobile club slogans to political party platforms, and yet we still have roads that can be called roads only through courtesy—roads that are dust heaps in summer and mud holes in winter, where the casual motorist takes his life in his hands when he attempts to go forward, and where the passage of a commercial vehicle is utterly impossible.

A brief survey of the situation shows that many bad roads exist because apparently no one is willing to take the responsibility of improving them. The property holders along the right of way are rightly unenthusiastic about bearing the burden alone, and the passing motorist is by nature cautious and hard to catch. The state generally does its best by endeavoring to tax those who will directly benefit from improved roads, but it generally ends by taxing everything in sight, and the methods of the state, though thorough, are apt to be tedious, unless constantly stimulated by reiterated public demand. Voluntary public action is what is really needed.

The advantage of good roads are almost too obvious to need mention. Increased ease and facility of commercial transportation, as well as increased comfort and driving range for the individual motorist, have become axiomatic as being among the results of good roads. And good roads may be had for the asking—provided that the asking is long enough, and loud enough, and, above all, concerted enough.

Every motorist is interested in good roads, but sometimes he does not know it. He must be told, not once but a thousand times. He has become accustomed to bad roads, and too often takes them as a part of the day's work. However, constant repetition in the press—constant bringing of the facts of the case before the public eye—is having its reward.

More and more frequently, and on every hand, do we hear "We want good roads, and we want them soon."

Good Government For Cities

Good government for the city means self government. The absolute control must be in the hands of the totality of the people. Any government that is imposed upon them from outside, or from "above," or by a class, or by leaders, has in itself the seed of abuse. The closer the whole body of the people is linked to the authority over the people, the sounder and more stable and more just is government.

Good government is impossible so long as there remains the vicious idea that a public office is for any other purpose than to be of the best possible service. So long as men are employed to reward them for party service, or to provide a place for deserving incompetents, there is no hope. The only question to be asked concerning any city employee, from a stenographer or bookkeeper to a police chief or Mayor, is, "Can he do the business?"

Good government means intelligent politics. Partisanship is the opposite to politics. Politics means making the will of the people effective through practical organization. Partisanship thrives upon the ignorance and indifference of the citizens, politics thrives upon their interest and intelligence.

Good government should pay its officials well, give them a free hand, reelect them so long as they make good, and recall them when they prove unfaithful or inefficient.

Good government should be taught in the public school. To make a good citizen you must catch him young.

Partisan issues, religious issues, any class issues are fatal to good government. It must be government for all the people.

Good government means simply common sense and efficiency applied to city business.

THE UNCONQUERABLE

Out of the obscene muck of materialistic force is springing a revaluation of the spirit in man. Man is a curious animal. He seems to give forth his finest product only when crushed. We expect him to "curse God and die," and suddenly his face lights up with the heavenly vision.

We loathe poverty and fight disease and avoid wounds, tyranny, and oppression. Yet somehow only when these come, do the rarest flowers appear on the human bush.

I know a young man, twisted, crippled, paralysed, unable to feed or dress himself, yet who sits daily by his window with a shining face. He is cheerful, helpful, a fountain of joy to all who know him. The boys love to gather in his room at night and play cards and tell stories. One would think he would be a gloom and a burden; he is an uplift. You soon forget his limitations. You soon cease to pity him, for he does not pity himself. He does not drain you; he inspires you.

In how many another family is the sick-room the shrine of the house. How many a stricken invalid woman is the resting-place for her worried husband, the delightful refuge for her children's cares!

It is not the strong, wealthy, and powerful that always gleam with optimism and radiate hope. Too often the house of luxury is the nest of bitterness, boredom, and snarling. Petulance waits on plenty. Luxury and cruelty are twins. Success brings hardness of heart.

The world could get along without its war lords, millionaires, and big men, with all their effective virility, better than it could do without its blind, deaf, hunch-backed, and bedridden. Some things we get from the first group, but the things we get from the second are more needed for this starved race.

Little girl, with twisted spine and useless legs, with eyes always bright with golden courage, with heart ever high with undaunted love, we could spare all the proud beauties of the ballroom or the staid better than you.

Their bodies are finer than yours; but then we are not bodies.

What a strange and strangely magnificent creature is man! And how proud his Maker must be of him, for all his faults! You cannot crush him. Put him in prison and in its half-light he writes a "Pilgrim's Progress." Strike him blind and he sings a "Paradise Lost."

When Beethoven died, a post-mortem examination showed that since childhood he had suffered from an incurable disease, aggravated by improper medical treatment and by want of home comfort and proper food. His liver was shrunk to half its proper size. He always had family troubles that annoyed him beyond endurance. His finest works were produced after he was deaf. And this was the majestic soul that was unparalleled master of music, whose art was immeasurable, will be immortal! Yet we have heard fat artists whine because they are mistreated!

What a piece of work is man! Too wonderful, too unconquerable, too divine for this earth! His home must be among the stars!

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

BY WM. F. KIRK

Wife, sed Pa to Ma last nite, I have the plot in my head for a grate novel.

Well, sed Ma, doant scare it away. Be still about it, sed Ma. Meening that I am not to bother you, I suppose, sed Pa, kind of haity & sneering.

Deer me, no, sed Ma. If you want to tell me about this grate plot, sed Ma, go ahead. I will listen bravely, sed Ma.

You will listen if it kills you, I suppose, sed Pa. Well, you need not worry. I will remain silent on that subject, sed Pa, just as I have remained silent on many subjects since our marriage. Pa sed. Wimmen are moastly pritty shallow, after all, sed Pa.

Oh, we are, are we sed Ma, we are, are we?

Yes, sed Pa, you are. If you were not shallow you wud be deeply interested in this grate plot of mine, sed Pa.

Vary well, then, sed Ma, as long as you are dying to tell me about yure grate story, go ahead, sed Ma. I will listen & endure the agony as best what I can, sed Ma.

If I had of been Pa you bet I wuddent have gone ahead with the story, but Pa has got a kind of thick skin sum ways, so he beegan to tell Ma & I about his story.

The seen of this story is laid in New Zealand, sed Pa. The heero is a ree-formed cannibull. How sweet of him to ree-form, sed Ma. How noabel.

The heeroine, sed Pa, is a lady misshunary, fare as the dawn & graceful like a fawn, sed Pa. You will ob-serv that there is a rime, sed Pa, fare as the Dawn & graceful like a fawn.

I observe, sed Ma, what of it? Well, sed Pa, the ree-formed cannibull falls in luv with the lady misshunary, Pa sed, & altho she sent vary keen to marry a cannibull, even a X-cannibull, she believes that her ship is never cumming back to that land to git her, so finally she dee-dees that she will marry him & try to malk him a grate church member. So at last they are married.

I think that is shocking, sed Ma. Imagin a butifal Christun girl marrying a X-cannibull, sed Ma.

I want it to be shocking, sed Pa, the book will have a big sell if it is shocking, sed Pa. Well, sed Pa, time goes on & they have twins, sed Pa, a littel boy & a littel gurl. One day thay cum hoam, sed Pa, & the littel gurl is missing. The littel boy looks kind of hang dog, sed Pa, & kind of fat, but he never confesses. We must leave that to the imagination of the reader, sed Pa.

Ma beegan to laff.

At what are you laffing at? sed Ma.

At yure plot, deerest, sed Ma. You are sum plotter, sed Ma. Ja Ha Ha, sed Ma.

You bet that got Pa's goat & I bet if he had of been a cannibull he wud of ate Ma rite there. I will now cloaze.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Now for the ripping and tearing, Now for the praise and the blame;

Now for the booming and blaring, On with noisy old game!

Orators ranting and sweating, Promise and plead and defy;

People are busy forgetting Where they are going and why.

Crowding and crushing and shouting, Bunting wherever you gaze;

Boasting and boasting and doubting, Platforms and puffie and praise;

Elephants, camels and donkeys, Badges and buttons and bosh;

Roosters and eagles and monkeys—How jolly, oh, golly, oh, gosh!

How can the wets be persuaded? What can be done for the dries?

How can the wets be persuaded? Promise each farmer a prize!

Now for the band wagon's rumble, Now let the banners be waved;

Must the foundations all crumble? How can the nation be saved?

One who had come as a stranger, Hearing and seeing it all,

Might be alarmed at the danger, Might think the heavens must fall.

Daily from now till November We'll hear the calamitous roar,

And only the wise will remember That oft as happens before.

Fashion Shows Becoming Necklines for Every Type of Woman

In selecting the mode of a new frock some women always consider the line of the neck first. Other women think first of the arrangement at the waistline. Then there are women whose first thought relates to the sleeves, other things following as mere details.

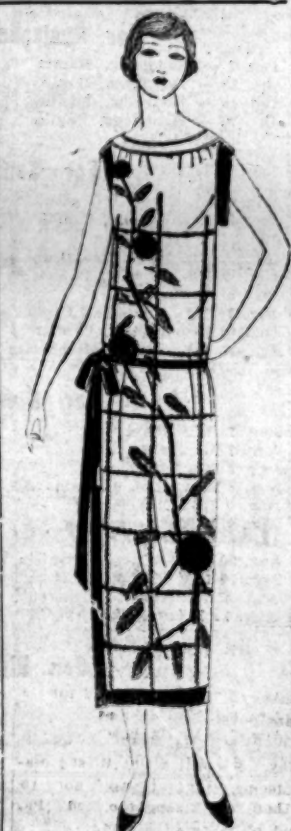

Thus year, apparently, many women first question the neckline. If there were but one type of neckline we would all accept it, whether it was becoming and comfortable or not, and let it go at that. But this season there are so many necklines that every one may be satisfied.

While the prediction has been made repeatedly that the bateau neckline was going, it persists. But it is a different sort of bateau. Quite often it is finished with a straight upstanding binding which sometimes has ends at the front that lie in a bow just below the collar bone. Often the bateau neckline is finished with a folded neckerchief knotted at front or in the shoulder.

One sees here and there indications of the revival of the bertha as one solution to the question of necklines, and in Paris there has been a renewal of interest in fichus. They are not draped in the traditional manner of schuss, but knotted in jaunty apache manner.

There are narrow V-necks that are almost always worn to advantage by the broad-shouldered woman and square necks for the slender. There are any number of informal rolling collars that add to the vogue for boyish effects that took two continents by storm only a season ago.

The sketch shows a frock of yellow crepe embroidered in red, blue and green. The neckline is simple, but interesting and becoming.

Frock of yellow crepe, embroidered with chenille flowers, with stems and leaves of silk. A big bow design is laid off in cross-stitch. The neck line of this frock is one of the characteristic lines of the summer.

Tomato Eggs

Cut some thick slices of tomato, dip each into flour seasoned with salt and pepper and fry. Make some rounds of toast, butter these, lay the tomatoes on them and put a poached egg on each. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Tomato Salad

Pare with sharp knife. Slice and lay in salad bowl. Make dressing as follows: Work up saltspoon each of salt, pepper, and fresh made mustard with 2 tablespoons of salad oil adding only a few drops at a time, and when thoroughly mixed, whip in with an egg, beaten, 4 tablespoons vinegar; toss up with fork.

Tomato Farci

Put a layer of tomatoes in the bottom of a baking dish, then a layer of bread crumbs, then salt and pepper. Add a layer of tomatoes, then bread crumbs, and so on. Top with layer of crumbs. Bake twenty minutes.

Isostasy, Or The Floating Of Mountains

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

John F. Hayford, director of the College of Engineering of Northwestern University, has been awarded a medal for his work in establishing the doctrine of "isostasy."

Isostasy shows among other things that the earth is solid from surface to center, and not, says Dr. Hayford, "a floating crust on a liquid interior."

I can remember hearing when a boy and when the now discarded notion still prevailed, even among geologists, that there was only some forty miles of cooled shell between us and an interior globe of liquid fire 8,000 miles in diameter, alarming hints that the place of eternal punishment was all ready, right under foot! I spent some uneasy moments meditating on that. Forty miles, to be sure, was a long distance, but—it was only as far as Albany.

"This crust" over the liquid fire, explained an elder brother home on college vacation, "is about the thickness of an egg-shell." The next time I broke an egg I thought about it.

It would have been very comforting then to hear about Dr. Hayford's medal, and I should have welcomed "isostasy" in spite of its tough looks with a good deal more enthusiasm than I was able to work up for grammar.

But, viewed with adult eyes, isostasy itself doesn't make the earth's interior seem a place of eternal repose. The word means substantially the same thing as equilibrium. The idea is best illustrated by its application to mountains. Though composed of solid rock, mountains are relatively lighter than the subterranean matter on which they rest, and are "floating" by it, somewhat as an iceberg floats.

The mountain, like the iceberg, displaces an amount of the denser matter below, proportioned to its weight. The lighter the materials of the mountain, other things being equal, the higher it will rise above the flotation line.

The odd thing about this is the use of the word "floatation." If the interior of the earth is not liquid, and if isostasy helps to prove that it is not liquid, how, it may be asked, can we speak of mountains floating? But there is no difficulty if we simply widen the meaning of "float" to include all cases in which a lighter body is pushed upward against gravity by a surrounding medium which is more or less plastic, that is, capable of being moulded into changing forms. Even solids under sufficient stress become plastic, and "flow like viscous liquids," although they do not turn liquid.

In this way then, it may be conceived that the denser interior matter of the earth buoys up the relatively light mountains formed on its surface. Experiments with the direction of the plumb line show that mountains and their subterranean roots are lighter, bulk for bulk, than the material that underlies plains and oceans, where the surface has been depressed by deposits brought down from the uplifted plateaus and ranges.

But, although a general state of isostatic equilibrium exists, it must not be inferred that there is no motion inside the earth. There is no absolute rest there, for under the tremendous pressures, altered in amount and direction by many circumstances, changes take place, some of whose effects are felt on the surface in the form of earthquakes. The evidence obtained from isostasy shows that the origin of earthquakes is much deeper seated than the older theories assumed.

It also shows that the formation of mountain chains, and masses other than volcanoes, has been due to horizontal thrusts in the upper crust, acting often on a very large scale. A striking instance of such action mentioned by Dr. Hayford is that the distance between Harrisburg and

Pittsburgh, Pa., or rather between the spots where they now stand, was shortened nearly ten miles by the crumbling of the rocks which piled up the Allegheny ranges.

You have been mighty near investing all your savings in some project or undertaking which has since proved a failure.

You missed being in a bad train wreck by unforeseen circumstances which prevented you from taking that particular train.

You have been spared sorrows which many another has had in life.

In fact, considering the foolish things you have done, you wonder that you are not crippled or maimed—disfigured for life, or you wonder that you have any income at all.

Why brood over the misfortunes when you have had so many blessed escapes?

It is up to you to pull yourself together and work out your own life. Others cannot and will not help you unless you help yourself. While you are full of pity for

HANCOCK-MACKLIN

Dr. Macklin's long years of loving and being loved in China have brought him a host of friends, and it was the privilege of a goodly number of them to attend the wedding of his daughter Dorothy Daisy, on July 29 in Kuling. Miss Macklin graduated from Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., in 1923 and has, for the past year, been the kindergarten teacher at Hillcrest School in Nanking, which received the news of her engagement to Mr. Marcus Leslie Hancock with mingled feelings of gladness and loss. But gladness prevailed, for Mr. Hancock, an Englishman from Kent, comes to the College of Agriculture of the University of Nanking with a fine record for his work in Horticulture in the Ontario Agricultural College, his lieutenant overseas in Princess Pat's Regiment, and the period of excellent service in connection with

The Schoolgirl

At thirteen or fourteen years of age your daughter reaches a state of mental and physical transition. At school she is beginning to study subjects of relative difficulty, in which she must be examined. Her worries loom large and important in her maturing mind, will be magnified by any periodical physical depression.

Many mothers have helped their daughters through these years of great mental and physical activity by giving to them regularly Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will tone up the system, give them a new vitality, and energy to combat physical strain, nervousness, and listlessness.

"I am glad to say that I am one who takes your medicine and have found great relief from its use. I always suffered from pains at certain times and was advised by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so for one month and was surprised that all my pains vanished. You are welcome to use this letter to help others."

"When we have produced an antiseptic which can be taken internally without risk of injury to cell tissue, we shall have conquered infectious disease."—LORD LISTER.

SPRUE or PSILOSI
and
'Yadil' Antiseptic

OF all the diseases occurring specially in hot climates, one of those which have most obstinately resisted every treatment has hitherto been that known as sprue or psilosis. But the large number of medical and other reports received during the last seven years show that my antiseptic, 'Yadil', has been used with the utmost success in the treatment of this disorder, and that sprue need no longer be classed among incurable diseases.

THE explanation of the success of 'Yadil' in sprue as in other diseases is simple. 'Yadil' is the fulfilment of Lord Lister's vision of an antiseptic which could be taken into the human system, there to destroy bacterial infection, while leaving the tissues and organs of the body unharmed.

'YADIL' can be swallowed with perfect safety by everyone, from infancy to old age. It is of purely vegetable origin and contains absolutely no animal or mineral matter. The active principle of 'Yadil' is natural essential oil of garlic, but, unlike all other garlic substances, it never imparts the slightest odor or taint to the breath or body. On the contrary, by its powerful antiseptic action it purifies and sweetens them. It destroys bacterial infection in every part of the human body. The one common cause of most of our so-called diseases is thus removed and restoration to health naturally follows.

BESIDES its great success in curing sprue, 'Yadil' has for seven years been used by thousands of doctors and sufferers throughout the world in malaria, cholera, typhus, dengue, blackwater fever, diarrhoea, dysentery, plague, pneumonia, influenza, etc. The reports received leave no possible doubt as to its wonderful curative powers.

THE YADIL BOOK, 288 pages, cloth bound, sums up the results of seven years' medical experience of 'Yadil'. It gives simple directions, based on medical reports, for the treatment of some 200 disorders. Everyone, everywhere, should have a copy always at hand for reference in emergency. Sent, post-free, to any address on receipt of two shillings and sixpence, or you can get it through your chemist.

ASK your chemist also for 'Yadil' Antiseptic. If he has not got it in stock, he can easily get it through his London Buyer.

'Yadil' Antiseptic is prepared exclusively by Clement & Johnson Limited 19 Scillon Avenue London England, and is supplied to Chemists in the Far East through London Buyers only. The following are approximate prices:

WOMAN 'BOBBY'
INSPECTS POLICE
FORCES OF U. S.

Commandant Mary Allen Urges
Employment Of Police
Women

Chicago, June 15.—Police work for women will some day be a profession toward which educated women of the highest type will turn, according to Commandant Mary Allen, head of the woman's auxiliary service of the London police department, who is in Chicago to study the police system and the Municipal courts.

An interesting figure is Commandant Allen—and one to arouse admiration. A general might envy her military bearing and the swank with which she wears the snappily tailored uniform of her service. Her uniform is midnight blue in color, and the long tails of the coat are lined with cardinal silk. She wears breeches instead of skirts and her boots are black. A blue cap resplendent with gold braid is pulled low over her close-cropped hair. She reached toward her belt, and one expects her to pull out a billy, but instead she produces a monocle dangling from the end of its ribbon and adjusts it with practiced ease.

In a word, Commandant Allen has the bearing of a general, the poise of a diplomat and the voice and manner of an English gentlewoman. And she does love her tea. Men of the police department need not be well educated—they need be efficient only, but policewomen should be of the highest class according to the woman bobby.

"Only an educated woman can deal with the ordinary woman that comes into the hands of the police—whether she be victim or offender," she said. "I personally uphold only educated women for policewomen, and to recruit the best type of college women for that service the duties of the policewoman must be varied and interesting enough to make it worth her while. I do not believe women should be used largely for detective work, as they are in so many cities."

"I think a woman police officer should be sent on every case where a woman or child is involved, whether it be a murder, a suicide, an assault or a robbery. Woman police officers should take depositions from women and collect evidence."

Commandant Allen also approves of the uniform for the policewoman because it is the best prevention of trouble—a sort of a moral club.

"The uniform is the strongest preventive measure we have," she vouchsafed.

The small, sunburned, military visitor is on a month's tour of American cities to inspect police systems and municipal courts, particularly "women's courts," such as the Morals court and the Court of Domestic Relations.
